SENATE COMMITTEES

Completed and Announced in That Body.

AN INTERESTING SESSION.

Where the Various Members Were Assigned—Hill and Vance Not Named on the Committees but Will Be Provided for When They Take Their Seats in the Senate—The Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—The senate proceedings were made interesting from the start by the completion of committees and the presentation of Senator Hill's credentials. All the Republican chairmanships were anticipated.

Expectations of an objection to the report on Governor Hill's credentials were not realized. The papers in his case were read and filed without incident after the committees had been appointed.

Mr. Hill's name was not included in any of the committee assignments. Neither was that of Senator Vance, of North Carolina, who is absent in Europe, and has not yet taken the oath on his re-election. The understanding was that when these gentlemen take their seats, places will be made for them on certain committees by senators who will resign in their favor, and who have temporarily accepted places on those committees for that purpose. It was with this view that Mr. Ransom was assigned to the chairmanship of both senate land committee and woman suffrage. The latter will be taken by Mr. Vance.

After speeches by Mr. Turpie in favor of choosing presidential electors by the popular vote and by Mr. Stewart on the silver question, the senate went into executive session on the nomination of Mr. Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, as secretary of war.

The senate in executive session took action upon a number of recess nominations, but inadvertently omitted the customary notification to be made to the president. Mr. Elkins' nomination, it is understood, was referred without action.

The senate after forty minutes session changed the resolution adopted in open session to adjourn until Saturday and adjourned until Monday.

STEPPED DOWN OUT OF OFFICE.

Michigan's Secretary Yields to a Demand and Resigns.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 18.—Wednesday night, at midnight, in response to an emphatic demand from Governor Wainman, Daniel E. Soper, secretary of state, tendered his resignation, and it was promptly accepted.

This is a sequel to rumors that have been current for some days and took shape by the filing of charges against the secretary of state by the mayor of this city, the most important of which was that of selling and appropriating to his own use the proceeds of fifty sets of Howell's annotated statutes, the giving away of several hundred copies of the Michigan manual contrary to the law of demanding on penalty of dismissal from office if refused $500 from his deputy as compensation for his appointment to the office, and extravagant purchases of supplies at a loss to the state. When confronted with the charges by the governor he acknowledged the truthfulness of them, and the demand for his resignation followed with the above result.

Shot by Her Husband.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 18.—Yesterday afternoon J. B. Wilhoit, a Shelby county farmer, shot and fatally wounded his wife at the residence of John Topas, about two miles from this city on the Versailles pike. Mrs. Wilhoit left her home and went to the home of her cousin to live. Her husband followed her and tried to persuade her to return to his home. Upon her positive refusal to do so he drew a pistol and shot her twice, one ball entering her head and the other her right side. She can not possibly recover. Wilhoit was arrested and is now in jail.

The Old Gold Brick Swindle.

MARIETTA, O., Dec. 18.—Two brothers named Smithson, living near Sistersville, W. Va., were victimized here by the gold brick swindle. They were steered to Marietta, where J. J. TRUCKS AND CINDERS

All That is Left of a Passenger Train.

SERIOUS WRECK IN KANSAS.

Three Coaches and an Express Car Hurled Down an Embankment, Seriously Injuring Twenty-Six Passengers, Three of Whom Will Probably Die. List of the Victims.

CHERRY VALE, Kan., Dec. 18.—The passenger train, due here at 6:10 o'clock from Kansas City, was wrecked two miles north of this city, by the displacement of a rail owing to decayed ties. The train was composed of three passenger coaches, an express car, and a mail and baggage car, in charge of Conductor Eli Parsons and Engineer Raub. The train was running at about twenty-five miles an hour, and just south of the Cherry Creek bridge, the three coaches and the express car became detached from the baggage car and engine, and were suddenly hurled down a high embankment with about forty passengers, besides the trainmen aboard. The coaches had no sooner struck the ditch than fire broke out in each car, causing a general panic.

Twenty-six persons were injured, three of whom will probably die. The passengers who were able, went bravely to work to save the seriously injured ones and all were rescued before the fire had consumed the coaches, although quite a number of the unfortunate received severe burns. The passengers were brought here and taken to the Sherman House, where medical aid was summoned to alleviate the sufferings of the injured ones.

The list of the injured is as follows: Conductor Eli Parsons, cut about the head and injured internally, is in a dangerous condition.

Mrs. Lizzie McGuire, of Sharon, Kan., fracture of skull and concussion of spine; cannot recover.

Clarence Bailey, a colored boy, serious fracture of the skull; is in a critical condition.

E. I. Brown, of Greenola, Kan., badly bruised and fractured leg.

Mayor C. C. Kincaid, of Cherry Vale, sprained back and severe bruises on head.

C. F. Carson, of Cherry Vale, injured back and sh. ulder.

Mrs. A. P. Wall, of Greenola, severe spinal injuries and cut on head.

Mrs. M. R. Spiles, of Franklin, Ill., head and back injured.

W. J. Seaborn, of Franklin, Ill., head and back injured.

Miss L. Brooks, of Oklahoma City, shoulder fractured and head cut. Her little daughter was injured internally.

James Ostrander, of Wellington, Kan., collar bone broken.

T. L. Karnes, of Lawrence, badly burned face and internal injuries.

J. Gibson, of Severy, Kan., injured back and head.

James L. Simpson, of Spirit Lake, Ia., head, neck and shoulder hurt.

T. P. Johnston, of Houstonia, Mo., slight bruises about head.

C. E. Stuart, of Shenandoah, Ia., head, neck and shoulder injured.

D. B. Fuller, of Eureka, Kan., slight internal injuries.

Dr. G. W. Cress, of Galesburg, Kan., badly burned hand and cut on head.

F. Bacon, of Wilton Junction, Ia., fractured shoulder and cut on the head.

E. W. Spielman, of Topeka, back and head bruised.

John H. Brown, of Kansas City, cut on the head and shoulder.

Lulu Bailey, Ada Bailey and Miss Talmage, en route from Memphis to Guthrie, O. T., all more or less injured.

Others, whose names are unknown, were slightly injured, and all that remains of the four cars is a pile of trucks and cinders.

COLLISION OF VESSELS.

Four Hundred and Fifty Lives Endangered by the Accident.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The steamer Havana, with an excursion party on board consisting of 450 persons, was run into and badly wrecked yesterday afternoon off Coney Island by the four-masted schooner Mary A. Randall. No lives were lost, though a number of passengers were severely injured. The steamer narrowly escaped being sunk.

The Randall attempted to cross the Havana's bow despite the latter's warning whistles. The bowsprit of the schooner struck the paddle-box of the steamer and badly wrecked that portion of the vessel. The crash was expected and the crew stood ready to man the life boats if they were required. Life preservers were distributed to the frightened passengers and quickly donned.

When the vessels came together there was a brief panic, but it was quickly quelled by the officers of the steamer, who ascertained that their vessel had not sustained a vital injury, and so reported to the passengers. The steamer was able to come up to her dock in the city without assistance. It was reported that a passenger on the Havana had been knocked overboard and drowned at the time of the collision, but this can not be confirmed. A number of the Havana passengers were slightly injured.

Noted War Nurse Dead.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Dec. 18.—Julia Averill Griffin, who was a noted nurse during the late war, died at Niagara Falls yesterday, aged 60 years. She was born in Hudson, N. Y. During the battle of Winchester Miss Griffin was taken prisoner, but was afterward paroled. As a consequence of her work in hospitals and on the field, she contracted asthma, for which a pension was granted her by special act of congress in 1888. The Grand Army of the Republic paraders on last Decoration Day honored her by lowering the flag as they passed her house.

STEPHEN B. ELKINS.

President Harrison Selects Him for Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—The president sent to the senate yesterday the nomination of Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, to be secretary of war, vice Redfield Proctor, resigned. In the senate's secret session the nomination was read and referred in the usual manner to the committee on military affairs for action, which will probably be reported back at the next secret session of the senate.

There is some dissatisfaction among Republican senators over the nomination of Mr. Elkins, but this is believed to be not deep enough to cause any opposition to his confirmation. The dissatisfaction is said to be on the part of some of the New England and a few western senators. Their alleged objection to the appointment is based on sectional grounds, the New Englanders believing that the war portfolio should have gone to their section, while the western men are put out because Acting Secretary Grant was not promoted. These gentlemen, however, express no wish to fight Mr. Elkins' confirmation, and it will probably be put through without opposition.

Biographical.

Stephen Benton Elkins was born in Perry county, O., Sept. 26, 1841. He removed to Missouri when very young, was graduated a Missouri university in 1860, and studied law. He served in 1862-3 as a captain in the Seventy-seventh Missouri regiment, and in the latter year went to New Mexico, where he was admitted to the bar in 1864. He also engaged in mining and stock raising there, and accumulated a fortune. He was a member of the territorial legislature in 1865-6, was attorney general of the territory in 1868-9, and United States district attorney in 1870-2. He was then elected a delegate to congress and served from 1873 till 1877. In 1875 he became interested in the West Virginia system of railroads, and has lately resided in New York. Mr. Elkins was a member of the national Republican committee from 1872-84. He took an active part in the convention of 1884 at Chicago that nominated James G. Blaine for the presidency, and earnestly supported him in the canvass.

DROP OF DEATH.

Murderer Fitzgerald Executed on the Gallows.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18.—William E. Fitzgerald, the murderer, was executed on the gallows in the penitentiary annex just after midnight. At 11:55 Fitzgerald, accompanied by Father Logan, his spiritual adviser, walked on to the scaffold. At 12:03 a. m. the drop fell. The murderer's neck was broken, and he was pronounced dead in thirteen minutes.

William E. Fitzgerald murdered Police Officer William R. Freed at Youngstown, Mahoning county, May 14, 1891. The crime, although a cold-blooded affair, was not in the strictest sense of the word premeditated. Fitzgerald was a professional burglar and all-round thief. He had stolen a sealskin satchel, in the pocket of which was nearly $100 in money, from a private residence, and was making way with his booty when Officer Freed attempted to arrest him. A running fight between the two ensued, pistols being used by both the officer and the fugitive. Fitzgerald was finally cornered near the outskirts of the town and, turning, shot the officer dead.

He was immediately arrested and confined in the Youngstown jail until his trial occurred, which, by the way, was one of the shortest on record, lasting but seven days after the prisoner was arraigned. Fitzgerald was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang on Nov. 19 last. Governor Campbell granted him a respite until today, in order that the supreme court might pass on the case. The highest tribunal sustained the verdict of the Mahoning county court.

Within the last week Fitzgerald has made two attempts to commit suicide. The first was on Sunday night, when he took a large dose of morphine which he had secured in some mysterious manner. He was resuscitated and carefully watched since that time, but night before last succeeded in making another attempt at self-destruction. On the last occasion his effort was desperate in the extreme. He placed a sharpened lead pencil directly over his heart and, holding it in a horizontal position, rushed madly against his cell door. The pencil was driven a half inch into his flesh, but his guard prevented the effect being fatal.

Shot Down by a Desperado.

BUCHTEL, O., Dec. 18.—John Lynch, single, m. r., aged thirty-five, was brutally murdered in Donahoe's saloon by Thornton Sampson, a Kentucky desperado. Lynch, in a joking way, made a remark about Sampson's rubber boots, when the latter drew a revolver and shot three times, the last shot piercing Lynch's heart, who fell dead. Sampson was hustled to Athens jail for fear of mob violence.

Finish Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—Joe Choynski, of San Francisco, and Billy Wood, of Denver, met yesterday evening at the Pacific club in a fight to a finish, for a purse of $4,000. Mike Sullivan acted as referee. Choynski won in the thirty-fourth round.

ANOTHER paper for Lexington. J. R. Marrs, of the Kentucky Stock Farm, and B. G. Boyle, of the Danville Advocate, will start the Home and Farm Record in January. Marrs will be the editor, but will retain control of the Lancaster property. Both are experienced at the business, and it can be relied upon that the Home and Farm Record will be all that its name implies.

THE daily Owensboro Journal is dead from sheer inanition, * * * and the daily Knoxville Sentinel, owned and edited by an old Kentucky publisher, has gone down under its weight of debts, states the Louisville Times. Both papers were started to "fill a long-felt want," as it were, but instead of doing that they emptied the pockets of their owners, and are now in the consummation.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

GERMANTOWN.
Elder Duncan preached at Mt. Olivet Sunday. Elder Hall was the guest of Elder Duncan on Monday.

Our merchants are receiving a large stock for Christmas.

Albert Woodward, of Jessamine County, is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Will Dwire, of the William Dwire tobacco firm of Quincy, Ill., is here with a view to making a large purchase of tobacco.

S. D. Kigdon and family moved to Cincinnati Wednesday, where he proposes to engage in the tobacco business. We will miss them very much.

Mr. McClellan, a student of the Bible College at Lexington, preached on Sunday morning and night at the Christian Church. His efforts are very highly spoken of.

Eben Woodward died at 10 o'clock Monday at his father's, of consumption. The deceased was about thirty years of age. He had been ill for years, was a member of the M. E. Church, South, lived a faithful christian life and died in the full triumph of the christian's faith. He leaves a wife and two small children.

The Salem Ridge turnpike is finished, and will be received as soon as it is sufficiently dirted. Thus every road leading into Germantown is turpified, and while they are a great improvement and convenience for the people generally, they have not proven of special benefit to the place in a commercial point of view.

SHANNON.

The sudden death of William M. Ray, like a trumpet sound from the grave, called out a vast assembly at Shannon Church Monday, Dec. 14th. It is estimated that the people who paid their last tribute to the dead Knight numbered over five hundred. The funeral cortege from his home at Fairview, Fleming County, under charge of Flemingburg Commandery, K. T., was a very imposing one, nearly a half mile in length. The casket covered with black cloth and heavily mounted with decorations, the emblematic Maltese cross and a cross and crown combined from flowers, the Immortelle and Marcella Neil being rare the most conspicuous.

The funeral services were performed by Revs. Willis and Wightman. The solemnity of the ceremony, so impressive on even the most ordinary occasion, was infinitely heightened by the presence of his brother Knights, whose rites though brief—"Alas! my brother," were tender and touching.

The funeral discourse of Rev. Heber Wightman, a school day associate and early friend of the deceased, was eloquent and feeling in the highest degree. The elaboration of the very appropriate text found in II Corinthians v. chap. I verse was comforting and thrilling. It reminded the writer of his polished eulogium of the speaker's father, Dr. Wightman, and the impassioned fervor of his uncle—Bishop Wightman. The effect of the entire discourse upon the attentive audience fully attested the power of the young speaker. The ceremonies at the grave in accordance with the ritual service of the Knights Templar, interspersed with scriptural selections, song and prayer, impressed the public most favorably with the high mission of the Order. Wm. Barksdale was the chief orator, assisted by Wm. Deering, of Flemingburg, Flemingburg, Mayslick, Sardis, and Mt. Olivet lodges were all represented. The music in the church made up of the most beautiful songs of consolation rendered by Miss Blund added much to the solemn interest of the occasion. We sympathize with his bereft widow, with his son and daughter deprived of parental guidance and fostering care.

"Death is an equal doom
To good and bad, the common inn of rest;
But after death the trial is to come,
When best shall be to them that lived best."

SPRINGDALE.

The most noted event of the season was the marriage at the handsome residence of the bride's mother, December 8th, of Miss Cora McDonald to Captain U. P. Degman, of Schuyler, Neb. The programme as carried out was most elegant in every particular. Because of recent bereavement in the family, only the near relatives of the contracting parties were present. The bride has long been a popular and acknowledged belle in the social circle of this community, not only because of her personal beauty, which is of a rare and striking type, but more especially because of the remarkably sweet disposition and kindly manner that grace her every movement, rendering her a favorite with old as well as young. Captain Degman is a remarkably handsome member of the well known family of that name in this county, having spent the greater part of the past fifteen years in Nebraska and other Western States. He is a member of the N. S. S. G.'s, took active part in the recent Indian war, and wears a handsome bronze medal presented to him by the Governor of his State for duty well done while in that campaign. A handsome couple they certainly were as they responded to the solemn words spoken to them by Rev. Wright of Maysville, which united them for "weal or woe." The bride's wedding gown was an exquisite creation of grey silk and wool. The reception in their honor on Wednesday, December 9th, at "Maplewood," the family residence of the Degmans for more than a hundred years, given by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Degman, was largely attended. An elegant and substantial lunch was served from 12 to 2:30 o'clock, after which Captain and Mrs. Degman took passage on the evening boat for Cincinnati, and are now "at home" to their friends at Schuyler, Neb.

MY SAILOR LOVER.

I watch and wait,
My ship is late
That brings my sailor lover.
I watch the sails as they go by
But dimly outlined 'gainst the sky,
But none brings back my lover.

To me alone
The waves' low moan
Tells of my sailor lover.
Years have I watched, but all in vain;
Oh, shall I see on earth again
My long lost sailor lover?

With weary beat
The waves repeat,
"Gone is thy sailor lover."
They tell to me in monotone,
Of sorrows that are rarely known—
Tell of my long lost lover.

Ere life's sad day
Shall pass away
Bring back, O sea, my lover.
O'er mountain, hill and winding stream
I see the sun's last, fading beam—
Thus shall my soul pass over

The Stygian river,
Gone, gone forever
To meet my long lost lover;
But still I watch, but watch in vain,
While at my heart grows keen the pain,
For my departed lover,
—Byron D. Burdick in Yankee Blade.

Pleasant Games for Evenings.

A pleasant game for an evening at home, among a few reading people and their neighbors, is called "Quotations." A card with some appropriate lines may announce the evening to your friends, and for an hour the hostess or some one else assigned the duty may read quotations, the guests giving the author. Well known lines should be written on slips of paper and put in a pretty ribbon basket. The guests are seated in a circle, and after the first quotation one is given a minute to name the author. If he fails, the reader gives the right name and No. 2 reads the next quotation and passes to his next neighbor.

To give variety an author's name may be given, and a point is made by the first one who responds with a quotation from that writer; or a subject may be given and appropriate quotations called for. The one making the greatest number of points wins the game. Another game that calls for quick thought is called "Observation." On the card given to each person is a list of ten articles that he is given ten seconds each to see. An evening devoted to curios, after the fashion of some of the clubs, is also both delightful and profitable. Each guest brings a curio and tells the history of it. In the same manner a geographical club sometimes varies its evenings by having each member bring a picture of some spot where he has traveled and give a little talk about it.—New York Post.

Fighting a Fashionable Dressmaker.

In reference to obstinacy in dress-makers for carrying out ideas I had an amusing experience. My sister's stay in Paris was too short for my dressmaker to undertake all she wanted made. For the best things we went to a big dressmaker, whose importance lies in great pretensions. Among the things ordered there was one for which I wanted my own way. The woman exclaimed: "But that is not practical. You women have ideas, but they can't be carried out." "Well, if it cannot be carried out I will be responsible for spoilt cloth if there be any." I knew she opposed it because the idea was not her own, and that it did not go to swell the bill with yards of lace, feathers, furs, passementerie, etc.

She consented at last; the dress was a great success. A few weeks after I had occasion to call on the dressmaker, and what was my surprise to find several dresses in the showroom with my idea very practically carried out, and what was my greater surprise, when the woman came in, to find she was wearing my idea practically demonstrated on her own back.—Brooklyn Eagle.

What "Uncle Isaac" Was Doing.

Tommy was sent off on an errand one morning to a farm lying just on the edge of the town, the owner of which was familiarly known as "Uncle Isaac." The hour was rather early, and when he arrived such members of the large family as could be spared without seriously interfering with the running of the domestic machinery were gathered for family worship.

Returning home, his mother questioned him about his errand, and with the curiosity about one's neighbors which takes deep root in village soil, she asked him what was going on at the farm. He told her of the occupations of one and another, and added, "and Uncle Isaac, he was in the settin room a prayin out 't just as tight as he could prayer."—New York Tribune.

Evolution of the Saddle.

The evolution from cloth coverings to the saddle were as gradual as they were natural, finally bringing us to the saddle of today, consisting of the wooden frame known as the saddletree, the skirts or padded underflaps, the seat (generally made of tanned pigskin), the girth or belly band, the stirrup straps, the stirrups and the crupper loop. This combination is the saddle proper, no matter how varied its shape, how near its approach to elegance on the one hand or to awkwardness on the other.—Detroit Free Press.

England exports large quantities of saddlery, the most of which is made at Walsall, in Staffordshire, and in the immediate neighborhood. The value of the export, including harness, exceeds $2,000,000 annually.

"CAPTAIN KARL" is described as a beautiful musical, romantic comedy of home life in the vineyard section of Saxony. It will be seen in Maysville for the first time next Monday night when it will be rendered by that popular German comedian, Charles A. Gardner. The box sheet at Nelson's points to a crowded house.

THE following are examples of nine-syllable words in the English language: Anthropometamorphosis, anti-supernaturalism, anti-constitutionalism, anhydrous pterion, iatromathematician, incomprehensibility, individualization, syntagmematical, unconstitutional, unintelligibility, valetudinarianism and vicissitudinality.—Indianapolis News.

MOLLIE DICKINSON, a young colored girl of Dover, wandered from the path of virtue, and was driven from home by her father. She found a home with another family for several months, but they made her leave a few days ago. The News says "The poor thing in the throes of child birth wandered the streets of Dover all night; at last the girl gave birth to a babe on Market street, about 4 o'clock on Saturday morning. Here she laid on the street for several hours with her babe in her arms and alone and neglected like a hog. At last she was discovered and medical aid was summoned and she was conveyed to her father's home from which she was driven a few months ago. Strange to relate, the girl is recovering and the babe, a healthy boy, is doing well."

Direct Your Letters Legibly.

The superintendent of the dead letter office reports that during the last fiscal year 6,829,460 pieces of mail were returned as undeliverable. Of the number 422,639 were misdirected and 27,677 with no direction whatever. Money to the amount of $47,983 was found in the letters. "We repeat our thread bare statement," says the Bourbon News, that there are but few men and women on earth capacitated to direct a letter. Most of them make unintelligible hieroglyphics which they understand, but no one else does. It is the young and giddy school girl, who puts on fool airs, and the ignorant colored citizens, who do not know how to write, who contribute most of the mail to the dead letter office."

ABURN, ME., December 17.—It has been here, as elsewhere, the object of every one keeping house, or engaged in any business, to ascertain where the best bargains are to be had. After thorough investigation, for fine pearl, tortoise, ivory and buck-handle pocket knives, pearl, ivory and plated table knives and forks, carver sets, plated spoons, forks, triple-plate knives, scissors and shears, there is no city that can offer better inducements, as to prices and styles, over Frank Owens Hardware Company, of Maysville, Ky., the city so well known as the birthplace of the Harris fuel gas, now so celebrated throughout the United States. 18d3t

THE MARKETS.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

(Wednesday.)

With breaks of fair size, there is no material change in this market. Good to fine leaf and those grades showing color and character were in active demand and sold at full figures. Common and medium leaf and red tobaccos did not command any special attention, and sales of this kind are not satisfactory. The common and low grades held steady, without change from former reports. There is a continued strong market for new, and sales prove very satisfactory. Of the 682 hds, 118 sold from $1 to $3.90, 120 from $4 to $5.35, 176 from $6 to $7.95, 82 from $8 to $9.95, 71 from $10 to $14.50, 40 from $15 to $19.25, 18 from $20 to $24 and 2 at $25.

An Old and Esteemed Farmer Joins the Silent Majority.

Robert Perrine, one of Mason County's oldest and most esteemed farmers, died this morning at 3 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. John R. Burgess, near Tuckahoe.

He had been in a very critical condition for some time, from the infirmities and weaknesses of advanced years, and the news of his death as not unexpected.

Deceased was a native of Mason County, and was eighty-eight years of age on April 14, 1891. His life was spent in the county of his nativity, and no one was esteemed more highly by his neighbors and acquaintances. For sixty years he had been an Elder in the Christian Church on Lawrence Creek. His wife died some years ago, and several of his children had preceded him to the grave. Two daughters and three sons survive him. They are Mrs. Boulton, of Verden, Ill.; Mr. "Doc" Perrine, of Carlisle; Mrs. John R. Burgess and Messrs. Robert and John Perrine, of this county.

"TALT" HALL.

An East Kentucky Desperado Who is Wanted at Norton, Va., for Murder.

Mention was made a few days ago of the arrest of Taltton Hall at Memphis, and, in connection therewith, his statement that he had killed a Sergeant of Police in this city. It turns out that Hall is wanted for killing an officer at Norton, Va.

Hall is a daring desperado that figured for years in the bushwhacking warfare between the Hall and Claib Jones factions in Letcher County, Kentucky, and Wise County, Virginia. Captain Heflin knows him well. When the Captain was Deputy United States Marshal some years ago, he had Hall employed for several months to assist in ferreting out the illicit distilleries of Eastern Kentucky. In appearance he is quite different from the man the papers recently pictured him. He is about five feet eight inches in height, and weighs about 130 pounds. Captain Heflin says Colonel George Simonds, the newspaper man, is one of the very few who ever made Hall throw up his hands. Heflin and Simonds were out in the mountains one evening looking for "moonshiners." They became separated. Simonds heard some one approaching in the underbrush. He raised his rifle, and when Hall approached, he was greeted with the command to throw up his hands. Simonds had the "drop" on him and his hands went up promptly. Explanations followed, but Simonds refused to put implicit faith in what Hall said. He marched the fellow in front of him to where Captain Heflin was. The latter was somewhat surprised to find one of his assistants under arrest and in the custody of another.

Some time afterwards Hall was reported killed by one of the Jones faction, and it was a long time before he was heard of. He finally turned up at Norton, Va., where he killed an officer while resisting arrest. He fled and eluded the officers until a few days ago, when he was captured at Memphis.

MINER'S MAXIMS.

Figures Don't Figure Well in Poetry, But There is Rhythm in the Ring of the Arithmetic of Counted Years.

Lookout for sentiment; it is not well regulated as a rule. Too much of it is infinitely worse than none at all; none at all is not enough. Miner is within touching distance of his sixtieth milestone—for every year a milestone; for every year another monument in the necropolis of time.

Lookout for sentiment, but to healthy and rational sentiment give kindly greeting. Join Miner in a benediction of the banished years, for you have helped to make them pleasant memories. The future will repeat the past; we face the present now. Miner is giving with every pair of Shoes a Doll worth giving; a Doll worth taking; in fact a Doll that is every inch a Doll. A memorable episode in the history of doll-dom is Miner's Doll convention. The Dolls are not bankrupt, but they are ready to go into the hands of a receiver. Now is the accepted time for accepting, and most acceptable will every Doll be found to be.

ITALY COMING BACK.

That Country Will Send a Minister to Washington.

THE MAN IS NOT YET NAMED.

Baron Fava's Successor to Be Appointed by the Italian Government Before Many Days and the Former Minister Will Probably Be Sent to France. Other Foreign News.

ROME, Dec. 18.—Italy is arranging to send a minister to Washington in place of Baron Fava, who was recalled from America in consequence of the New Orleans lynching. The name of the proposed minister has not yet been announced. The government has concluded to take this course, without waiting for an assurance from the American president that the constitution will be changed so as to afford more protection to foreigners, Rudini having learned semi-officially that it will be beyond the power of the president to give such an assurance.

Baron Fava remains in full favor with the Italian government, and there is no longer a pretense that his course in regard to the New Orleans incident was in any respect uninstructed. Baron Fava will possibly succeed Count Menabrea, the Italian ambassador in Paris. Count Menabrea has represented Italy in Paris since 1882. He has had a distinguished career, and is about to retire on account of old age, having been born in 1809.

Italy has hesitated to relieve Count Menabrea on account of the reverence and respect with which he is regarded in France, both on account of his scientific acquirements and his distinguished military services. But old age is pressing Menabrea and he wishes to rest. Should Fava succeed him, it would be a promotion in the diplomatic scale. One motive favoring the appointment of Fava is said to be that his absence from Europe since 1881 would make him more acceptable to the French than a diplomat who had been mingling in the intrigues of the European courts within recent years.

Egypt's Big Crops.

CAIRO, Dec. 18.—The crops in Egypt are far greater this year than last. Cotton, which is the most important, will yield probably 10 per cent. more, though last year's crop was the largest ever produced up to that time. Cotton seed has increased in equal proportion. The receipts of cereals at Alexandria since the 1st of April—wheat, beans, barley, maize and lentils—amounts to 1,800,000 quarters, just double last year's figures. Unfortunately, the price of cotton is so abnormally low that the luxuriance of the crop is of very little benefit to the smaller cultivators. The goods traffic on the railroad has increased by one-third, representing an advance of $1,000,000 in the receipts, but the finance ministry is unable to use its large surplus in reducing taxation, owing to French opposition.

Massacre of Christians.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—A dispatch from Shanghai says placards have been posted in many parts of the province of Shanghai, West China, urging a general massacre of the Christian missionaries. A serious attack has been made on missionaries in the Hunan, but no details have yet reached Shanghai. The rebellion in the north, however, apparently has been subdued.

No Respector of Persons.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—A dispatch from Stockholm says that the King of Sweden is slightly ill with influenza, and the queen is severely afflicted with the same disease. The King of Sweden is the second monarch overtaken by sickness at this time, and it is said that the Emperor of Austria's illness is complicated with influenza.

Steamers Wrecked.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The steamer Yun-nan has been wrecked at Swatow. Her cargo was also lost. The steamer Tongsan went to the assistance of the Yun-nan, and was also driven ashore by the heavy gale prevailing, and is probably a total loss. No lives were lost.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Persons Killed and Several Injured at Ridgeville, Indiana.

RIDGEVILLE, Ind., Dec. 18.—Three persons were killed outright and one mortally wounded and several others injured by the explosion of the boiler in the sawmill of A. Collett yesterday. The boiler was apparently in good condition and no cause is given for the explosion. The explosion was felt all over the city and the mill is a total wreck.

The following is a list of the victims: William Wise, engineer, killed outright; William Collett, son of the proprietor, killed; James Clawson, killed.

Isaac Nicholson, fatally injured; Oscar Jones and a man named Wright were hurt by flying debris.

Fighting for a Widow.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 18.—Thomas Hughes and Walter Davis, both of Edwinstown, who have been in training for the past three months, under the guidance of Jim Farrell, of Philadelphia, fought a prize fight this morning to determine which of the two men should be entitled to the affections of a buxom widow of that place. After pummeling each other for half an hour, Davis threw up the sponge.

TWELVE-CLUB LEAGUE.

What Was Done at the Indianapolis Meeting of Magnates.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 18.—The executive committee of the new twelve-club league, consisting of Brush, Byrne, Robinson, Von der Ahe, Von der Horst, and Elliott, were in session at the Bates House all afternoon. Representatives of the Chicago, Milwaukee, Columbus and Athletic clubs were called before them separately and details of the purchases of these clubs discussed.

Mr. Iverson, of Milwaukee, set his price at $15,000. Columbus spread a paper before the new magnates showing that $20,000 would be necessary to recoup that club. Philadelphia valued the park, grandstand and club of the old Athletics at $55,000. Chicago's price was $25,000. This, added to the $75,000, which it is understood the Boston Association club gets, makes a grand total of $195,000.

These figures were too much. Milwaukee was, it is believed, offered $10,000; Columbus, $15,000; the Athletics, $50,000; and the Chicago people about $13,000. The Columbus and Philadelphia people are satisfied, but there is kicking long and loud on the part of Milwaukee and Chicago.

Following are the exact figures paid for each franchise of the Association clubs demolished by the deal: Boston, $35,000; Athletics, $45,000; Columbus, $18,000; Chicago, $14,000; Milwaukee, $8,000; total, $119,000. That is the total for all expenses of the Association.

The constitution of the new league, most of which has been practically agreed upon, will differ in some respects from the old agreement of the League, while in others it will be fashioned exactly on the same lines. The first and most radical change will be the provision for a division of the championship season into two series of three months each.

This, it is believed, will greatly benefit the game, giving those clubs which made a poor showing during the first half of the season, through weakness or disability of players, a chance to reinforce themselves and start out equal with the leaders in the second series. By this arrangement the tail-enders will have two chances at the pennant. The clubs winning first place in the spring and fall will play a championship series of seven, nine or eleven games at the end of the season to decide the real championship. Should one club win both it will, of course, float the pennant without further contest.

Each series will consist of six games for each club, three on the home ground and three away. This will make the season entire, twelve games for each club, or 144 games for the year, four games longer than the old League season.

Another question will be that of Sunday games. It is announced that the League will not openly declare in favor of Sunday games, no such games being on the schedule, but it will connive at Sunday base ball by permitting those towns which desire to play Sunday games to do so, and count the same championship games. No club will be compelled to play on Sunday, however. The anti-Sunday clubs are said to be Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and possibly Cleveland. This will leave six clubs—Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington to play Sundays. They will be nothing to prevent a club having a game scheduled in one of these towns for a Saturday or Monday, playing that game on Sunday and counting a championship contest.

There will be certain other changes in the new constitution, principal among which will be the matter of contracts with players. It has not been asserted yet whether or not the new league will return to the graded salary system, but some such agreement will more than likely be entered into. A representative of one of the League clubs said yesterday that instead of a twelve-club league being organized on a five year compact, it will be for ten years, insuring the existence of the new league until the year 1901.

Late last night this body held a brief meeting and declared itself out of existence as a partnership concern.

Young Russell Sage Ill.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Russell Sage, Jr., the nephew of the millionaire, lies at the Windsor hotel seriously ill. It is said his illness is the outcome of the intense excitement caused by the recent attack on the life of his uncle. This, however, is denied by Colonel Slocum, brother-in-law of Mr. Russell Sage. Mr. Sage, said Colonel Slocum, is one of the fifty nephews of Russell Sage. He is ill, certainly, but the recent explosion has nothing to do with his sickness. The story about his delirium and visions of dynamites is simply sensational.
